

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A carbon-based composite particle for an electron emission source comprises a particle of a material selected from the group consisting of metals, oxides, and ceramic materials; and a carbon-based material such as a carbon nanotube which is partially embedded inside the particle and which partially protrudes from the surface of the particle.